About the webinar: Tagore, an exponent of song and dance transformed the myth of colonial “downward filtration” learning to the overall physical, mental and emotional development of mind through education which was a cultural flow not only restricted to the national level but also had a universal appeal.

Our presenters of the webinar will foreshow Tagore's repository amalgamation of North-Eastern culture with that of Bengal which was unique in those days. When we think of "Chitrangada" the Manipuri dance recital immediately sets a tune to the novel.

Also, Tagore's different plays predict various relevant issues like human rights, religious superstitions, forest preservation and other triggering social elements which were narrated through different plays by Tagore, which will be enlivened through dance by performing danseuse.
